All the best, but do not follow me. I am a learner.

My % sureness for taking f. ex. a buy trade, comes from plussing and minussing these details:

The positive things: which gets my % sureness for making the trade UP:

more than 1 green candle +++

sma 5 has gone through the candle and is pointing up! +++

not sideways +++

comes after a pause ++

Good in BK8 H system +

has not touched upper bb ++

S and R + if I can find out of it. I am learning +

Other things ++

The negative things: which gets my % sureness for making the trade DOWN:

- =minus

is it maybe too late – ??

three candles --

wicks - - -

does not come from after low bb - -

does not come from a good trend - -

wicks ? -

S and R. If I can find out of it - learning -

Other things --

Overall look: F. ex.

Then at last before taking the trade - So Oddbjørg how sure are you in taking this trade?

Yes – all this makes me 65 % sure - I will take position and buy –but keeping a good eye on it and snap it - after 2 or 3 candles gone

Mondays - no trade

Fridays with good sl

This consideration I make and I store before taking the trade.
I am writing it on a print screen of the chart –

Copy printscreen which you wrote your judgement on again and paste it in a Word document.

When then the the trade has closed with good or bad result ...

... I go back to see, and to check what of the positive and of negative details, I should have taken more serious.

That is sometimes:

- you should have respected the wicks more, - it should take your % sureness more down
- or another comment could be
- it was a little bit close to upper bb, but it did not stop it to go long this time , - so it should have taken your % sureness more up

Writing this it on a new printscreen and copy/paste it in the former Word document.

You can copy / paste links to posts - what some one wrote about this in FF

My filenames are f.x. ey201020172321 it means : Eur Jpy 20. Oct. 2017 23:21 o clock

Then you have the hindsight possibility, right there by you hand in one document and you do not have to search for so long, and it is easy next time you come to this pair again and see the chart, how it is correlates to the above trade you made some days– or time ago.

Well Shimmering –

This was long winded – but I hope I made my homemade % sureness judgement clear.

I have learned of this.

Of course every body sometimes always do some other things and take trades even though you almost know you are going to be slammed.

It is a mixture between having ice in the stomach and education in sincerety whether it Demo or Live.

Hope this helps.

Please return, if something is not clear.

Hope you trading goes well.

Please let me know which system works for you.

Thanks for communicating – always fun.

All the best.
