The screenshot displays the MetaTrader 5 trading platform interface, showing various windows and data:

- Top Panel: Includes the 'Market Watch' window displaying a list of currency pairs (e.g., EURUSD, GBPUSD, USDJPY) and their current prices. It also shows the 'Trade' window with a grid of order types (Buy, Sell, Buy Limit, Sell Limit, etc.) and a 'New Order' button.
- Middle Panel: Displays the 'Terminal' window, which shows a list of open orders and their status (e.g., 'Open', 'Closed', 'Expired'). It also includes a 'New Order' button.
- Bottom Panel: Shows the 'Charts' window, which displays a list of currency pairs and their corresponding price charts. The interface is in Russian.

Introduction

First of all, I want to thank Mr. Macd-rsi for this incredible expert advisor. This expert consultant has been able to play a strong role in the management of capital in the Forex and Leverage markets.

Many traders, including myself, have been able to expand their basic concepts in these financial markets by learning the basics of this EA and gain a deeper understanding of these markets.

Concepts such as Theory D, Margin Call Pips (MCP), Grid trading and in particular a comprehensive look at market movement and “how to use market volatility”, have been implemented by this expert consultant.

The present document is a small gift in return for their efforts. In this document, traders can read the content presented by Mr. Macd-rsi and his accompanying users in order of priority and importance. Selected content includes how to use the tools within the EA as well as key concepts related to trading in financial markets.

Respectfully
