An Easy Day Trading Forex Strategy

Welcome and thanks for your purchase. First off, if your an experienced trader completely familiar with the MT4 platform, you can probably skip this paragraph in blue.

Assuming you have your broker's MT4 platform downloaded on to your computer, close it down and double click on "my computer" Double click on your main hard drive which is usually "C" drive. Then double click on "Programs File" Scroll to your brokers MetaTrader file and click on that. It will usually say your broker's name and metatrader or metatrader and then your broker's name. Once that is open, scroll to the "templates" file and open that. Then drag and drop or copy and paste the "simple_simon_V2" template into it. Now scroll back to the "experts" file and open that by double clicking on it an then open the "indicators" file. In there you will place the "S.S.Short Term_Trend" indicator and the "S.S.Early Alert_Arrows"

O.K. Exit everything, open your trading platform, open a chart, right click anywhere on it, then click on templates and click on the "Simple_Simon_V2" template and if you did everything right, you should be in business. Load the template on any other charts that you want to monitor. That is the most complicated part of the whole thing.

Now here are the simple trading rules :

Let's start with the best times to trade. Granted the forex markets are opened 24/5 but we want to trade when there is a good amount of volatility and these times are as follows. I will use Eastern Standard Time and you will have to translate it to your time where ever you may be. You are free to trade when ever you want but to achieve the results we've talked about on the site, you need to try and trade during one of these time frames. The best is #1 and then 2 and 3 in that order.

1. First the New York session – anytime from 1 hour before the market opens until a couple of hours after. Appx. (7am to 10 or 11 am. EST)

2. Second the London session – from about (2 am until 5am EST.)

3. Third the Asian session – about (6 pm until 9 pm EST.)

If you can trade sometime in sessions 1 or 2...Great. If not, you will have to settle for 3. Now everyone's risk appetite and greed factor is different. First let me tell you, it's important to conquer greed as I mentioned on the website. It will ruin your trading experience in the long run. I personally trade this system most every day and I trade a standard contract never risking more than 10% of my account at any time. I use a stop/loss of 10 pips and a take/profit target of 20 to 30 pips. I use the bonus program that I sent you when I trade. For my wife and I, we don't need a whole lot so if I win my first trade which I normally do, I'm done for the day unless I really have nothing else to do. For me $200. to $300. a day is fine. On the other hand, there is nothing wrong with going for more if you so desire because during our suggested trading period, there are usually 2 to 3 good trades or most of the single trades, if you monitor and let the indicator tell when to get out often times produce more than 20 or 30 pips. It all depends on you and your situation. Just keep the greed factor under control. Now I'm going to explain to you with the help of a chart exactly where to enter and exit a trade especially if your going to keep an eye on your trade and exit manually. Here is the chart :

O.K. Here we go : First of all the yellow arrows and text are not part of the system. They are there for illustration purposes. See the first aqua arrow pointing up on the bottom. This is our alert that a possible trade is coming up. The arrow will pop up on your chart and an audio and visual alert box will pop up. So you can see that you could be doing other things on your computer or just close by. This alert was almost a half hour before our buy signal. You can see your S.S. Short trend has turned blue, it's heading upwards and it crossed the magenta line going up. We jumped in at the opening of the first candle after the lines crossed indicated by the yellow arrow and "buy here" We immediately place a 10 pip stop/loss and a take profit to your liking or keep your eye on the trade. This trade made 60 pips in 20 minutes and went on to make another 35 if you let the system tell you when to get out which was when the orange down arrow and the short term color line alerts popped up. It's important to have both alerts to exit as you will get orange arrow down alerts popping up sometimes several times in a trade but not the short trend alert and if you got out of the trade, you would have exited way too early.

The arrows are the only indicator that repaints. An opposite arrow will pop up everytime a new high or low is reached. This is why they are used only as an alert. We don't actually trade them.

This trade went on to make about 95 pips, $950. on a standard contract and $95. on a mini...all in less than an hour. This trade took place at 2:30 am EST which is about 30 minutes after the opening of the London session. Not bad for an hours work in your P.J.'s..huh? It's that easy folks. Rules remain the same all the time. If you notice on that trade you got in when the candle opened and the only draw down was 3 little pips. Not even enough to get nervous. This is a killer system. If your a newbie, trade it for a couple of weeks on a demo account, even if you are experienced, get used to it for a couple of days on a demo account. Also, in a sell trade, it works the same but in reverse. This is like taking candy from a baby, it don't get any better. Well I guess I'm just getting excited. I love trading forex. The stealth trading bonus system is not my creation but has a clear manual that comes with it. On Simple Simon, we offer unlimited support and are here to answer any questions you might have. Email us at : admin@unclesamsforex.com We don't offer support for the bonus as it is not our creation. For that your on your own.

Happy Trading. Cheers,

Cap'n Ed and Vilka
