#INTC : Intel Cycle Alert

Intel is a stock I have been watching for about some months now and the stock resonate harmoniously towards lunar configurations. The market topped on a first quarter moon phase and that is the same phenomena in the skies we are seeing at the moment. Intel is also currently testing a key moving average that has the trend above for some time. We are on a powerful retracement ratio as well of the past upswing and we have formed a solid price formation yesterday that indicates buying back of this stock by the smart money. Volume on that bar has values over past 2 days and we could see this stock moving up back towards the 27.00 handle.

Warm Regards.
